Have you ever had a great idea to solve a “real world problem”, but got stuck not having the funds to start?

-or-

Do you know someone who is unselfishly working to benefit the community and you want to recognize them for their efforts?

-or-

Are you a future business leader with an undying entrepreneurial spirit who may need initial seed money to launch your venture?

The Kurt Giessler Foundation for Youth Achievement may be able to help. There are many youth in our community willing to solve the problems of tomorrow, however often times they lack the funds that are needed to jump-start a project. Would you like to recognize the determination and heart of those giving back to the communities they care about. The KGFYA does just that!

How can I receive funds for my project?

Check out our Ambition Grant which is designed to fund proposed endeavors by individuals that are inventive, entrepreneurial, charitable or explorative, and are unrelated to school or athletic activities.

I know someone who I think should be recognized for their efforts in the community?

Our Prize for Achievement is awarded to an individual who has successfully completed or is currently involved in an endeavor.

Visit www.KurtGiessler.com to learn more about our awards, our application process, and our past award recipients!

Why Apply?

You define your project scope!

We have awarded individuals with interests in areas of science, technology, photography, business, and social change. Remember we are looking for those with creative self-directed project ideas which enhance your learning and benefit society.

You retain all rights to your ideas, inventions, and outcomes!

You can recognize someone for their efforts!

We probably all have been there...we see an individual who is contributing to their community and would like others to know about them. This is a great way to share their efforts!

“Grant Recipient” looks great on college applications and resumes!

You decide how much money to request!

Whether your plan calls for $300 or $3,000, show us your thought-out plan and budget. Once awarded, the funds are yours to begin your project!
